AFIO Member Code of Ethics

Membership in the Association of Former Intelligence Officers including National and Chapter leadership positions imposes a responsibility to uphold and further the Association's purposes and objectives as set forth in the Association's charter and bylaws and the resolutions and decisions of its Board of Directors. Members at all times should conduct themselves and their professional and business affairs in a manner that reflects credit upon and enhances the reputation of AFIO. AFIO's Board of Directors vests the President of AFIO with the power to enforce membership obligations by removing from membership, with concurrence of the Executive Committee [EXCOM], any member who, in the judgment of EXCOM, gives cause for dismissal. Such causes include, but are not limited to:

1. Any material misrepresentation of service, employment, or credentials in application for membership, during the duration of membership or when serving in any office in the Association or its chapters.
2. Any act intended to disrupt the existence or unity of the Association or its chapters.
3. Any act that violates the Association's charter, such as using one's position in the Association to suggest or promote personal, political, policy, religious, or social agendas. To ensure that members' statements are not misconstrued in public fora that are not sponsored by the Association, whether through introductions or biographic profiles, such statements cannot be accompanied by publications, slides, handouts, etc. which have the logo or insignia of the Association. If affiliation with AFIO is noted or apparent, any handouts, publications, or slides must bear the caveat: "The opinions expressed in this (letter, blog, event, speech, newsletter, slide, paper, presentation, discussion, etc.) are those of the individual writer/speaker, and do not reflect the position of, or the endorsement by, the Association of Former Intelligence Officers, its members, officers, chapters, or board."
4. Any act that misrepresents the Association's 501(c)3 non-profit, non-political, educational charter, including any act that brings public disrepute or embarrassment upon the Association, or seeks to undermine the purposes or programs of the Association.
5. Any defamation, vilification, or deceitful act, false accusation, calumny, or slander or libel against the Association, its officers, or its members.
6. Any misrepresentation or use for purposes other than the stated purposes of the Association of the AFIO name, symbols, icons, trademarks, certificates, purposes, activities, membership or member data, of the Association including any act, assertion, or implication of, affiliation with, sponsorship of, or approval by the Association not permitted by the Association.
7. Any act in violation of a fiduciary or other trust exercised on behalf of the Association or its subsidiary chapters.
8. Any felonious violation of U.S. federal, state, or local laws or any prosecutable or indictable act, at the discretion of the Board of Directors, whether or not related to the Association.
9. Any conflict of interest or appearance of conflict of interest with the Association's charter, purposes, neutrality or objectives if not resolved immediately and satisfactorily upon notification and concurrence of the President.
10. Any violation of the ground rules ["background use only" "off the record" "Not for attribution"] set forth on behalf of speakers at AFIO luncheons, seminars, symposia or colloquia.

Signature of Attestation for Membership:

[required only for membership, not for subscribers]

By my signature below, I affirm that all my statements in this application are true and correct. I subscribe to AFIO's principles, code of ethics, and support its objectives, I understand that membership or renewal of membership is not automatic with payment of membership fees, and with these understandings hereby apply for membership.

ASSOCIATION OF FORMER INTELLIGENCE OFFICERS

WHAT IS AFIO?

The Association of Former Intelligence Officers [also known as the Association For Intelligence Officers] is a non-profit, apolitical, intelligence educational association, incorporated in Virginia in 1977 and recognized as a tax-exempt organization under IRS code para 501(c)3.

DEFINITIONS AND CLARIFICATIONS

▣ "INTELLIGENCE" in AFIO's title refers to activities by the US Intelligence Community and related government entities. It includes Intelligence Collection (reconnaissance, surveillance, espionage, communications intercepts, etc); Intelligence Analysis and Production (study, correlation, databases, estimates, reports); Intelligence Dissemination & Networking (communications, presentations, briefings); Operations (resource employment, education & training, management, security, clearances, cover, deception, etc.); and Systems (space, sea, air, land, requirements, design, development), across the spectrum of HUMINT, SIGINT, IMINT, MASINT, TECHINT and ALL-SOURCE intelligence, etc. It also includes Counterintelligence, Counterterrorism, and Federal/State/Local Law Enforcement intelligence, as well as clandestine, covert and overt Special Operations, in defense of the Constitution and as authorized by U.S. law.

▣ The term "FORMER" represents the core of our membership; though some members are current, or on-contract, and active. The association has a core of solid and broad professional expertise to provide balanced, constructive judgments to assure a strong, U.S. Intelligence Community, National and Homeland security, to enhance world stability.

▣ The term "OFFICERS" is inclusive, not exclusive. All ranks of current or former intelligence personnel are welcome to join. It includes those special members who are not intelligence personnel who join AFIO as associate members in pursuit of our non-profit intelligence educational mission. A new category - UKUSA - was established in 2005 to permit British, Canadian, Australian, and New Zealand citizens/officers to join as international members.

PRINCIPLES: AFIO members subscribe to the values of patriotism, excellence, dedication, and loyalty represented by the U.S. Intelligence Community engaged in the advancement of the vital interests and security of the country, its citizens, its allies, and the defense of the Constitution.

OBJECTIVES: AFIO advocates a healthy US intelligence capability for national and homeland security and for world stability. AFIO pursues a non-profit, non-partisan educational mission to foster a better understanding of the American Intelligence Community and of global risks. AFIO keeps its members abreast of developments and issues so they can more effectively pursue the educational mission interacting with the academic, media, political and business communities.

ORGANIZATION: AFIO is structured to be responsive to its members and to its objectives. The Board of Directors is elected by the members, sets policy and elects a President, who, with other officers, conducts the activities of the Association. Continuity is maintained through an Executive Director and a Central Office.

AFIO MEMBERSHIP

Since foreign intelligence, counterintelligence, and covert actions are conducted in secrecy — a “Silent War” — education on the vital need to conduct U.S. intelligence operations worldwide is a challenging, necessary and important mission.

If you support AFIO's principles and objectives we invite you to become a member and join an interesting, dynamic and diverse group of individuals who have been, or still are, involved in missions of importance to the nation and to stability, peace and security of the world.

CATEGORIES

(1) MEMBERS: Membership is open to current and former U.S. intelligence, counterintelligence, and related (e.g., security, law enforcement, military) personnel, who are actively serving or have been honorably separated or retired.

(2) ASSOCIATE MEMBERS: American citizens in private, civil, academic, or corporate pursuits, who agree with AFIO principles and objectives, may become Associate Members. Students considering careers in these fields are encouraged to join, however, there are no special student rates.

(3) SUBSCRIBERS: Institutions, Libraries, non-U.S. citizens, and Individuals who do not wish at this time to join the organization (or do not qualify for UKUSA membership), may receive AFIO printed publications and e-mail reports.

(4) CORPORATE: Corporations, Institutions, Associations, large and small enterprises who wish to enjoy a wide assortment of entitlements based on level of corporate support, may join for a single annual fee. It provides a number of free, individual memberships, free advertisements - online and in print - and no-cost attendance at our events, per schedule. See website.
